

Mahmood Tabaddor, PhD

UL

Mahmood Tabaddor has his graduate degrees in Mechanical Engineering from University of Michigan and Engineering Mechanics from Virginia Tech. He has worked at Bell Laboratories with a focus on optical fiber manufacturing and at DaimlerChrysler with a focus on computer modeling of vehicle noise and vibration. In 2007, he joined the Corporate Research Department at UL involved in product and system safety research.