

Dr. Mary Kelly

Mary Kelly is the Test house Manager of Resonate Testing Ltd, a new state-of-art testing facility in Northern Ireland focusing on environmental testing. Mary has over 6 years of testing experience, and has been involved in test programs to ensure products meet required legislative standards as well as the performance levels specified for safety, function and reliability. Her particular skills include instrumentation specification and data acquisition and data validation and analysis. Resonate Testing has core expertise in component vibration testing and aerospace materials and systems fire testing.